Subject: Legal Notice for Refund of Security Deposit and Wrongful Deductions

Sir,

Under instructions from, and on behalf of, my client, Mr. Arjun Kapoor ("my Client"), I serve upon you the following Legal Notice:

1. That my Client took the above-mentioned premises on rent from you vide a rent agreement dated 1 June 2024, on a monthly rent of Rs. 12,000, against a security deposit of Rs. 60,000 paid to you at the commencement of the tenancy.
2. That my Client vacated the said premises on 31 July 2026, upon expiry of the notice period, after handing over peaceful and vacant possession to you, with the premises in normal wear-and-tear condition, as acknowledged by you at the time of handover.
3. That despite the passage of more than 45 days since vacating the premises, and despite repeated requests made on 5 August 2026 and 20 August 2026, you have failed to refund the security deposit of Rs. 60,000, and have instead raised unsubstantiated claims of damages amounting to Rs. 35,000 without providing any estimates, invoices, or supporting documentation.
4. That your refusal to refund the deposit, and the unsubstantiated deductions claimed by you, are arbitrary, unjustified, and in violation of the terms of the rent agreement and applicable tenancy law.

You are therefore called upon, through this notice, to refund the full security deposit of Rs. 60,000 to my Client within fifteen (15) days from the date of receipt of this notice, failing which my Client shall be constrained to initiate appropriate civil and/or other legal proceedings against you before the appropriate forum / rent authority / court, entirely at your risk, cost, and consequences, for which please take notice.

A copy of this notice is retained in my office for record and for further necessary action, if required.

Yours faithfully,

Arjun Kapoor
